Sponsor Brief

The GStreamer Conference is an annual conference covering topics related to the GStreamer multimedia framework and other Open Source multimedia technologies. It is the premier conference to learn about the latest advances in Open Source multimedia for the desktop, server, mobile and embedded world on Linux, Android, Microsoft Windows, Apple macOS, and iOS.

In its tenth year, the conference once again takes place in Europe, with previous conferences occurring in Berlin, Dublin, Düsseldorf, Edinburgh, San Diego, Prague, and Cambridge. The last nine years were great successes resulting in hundreds of professional and hobbyist attendees and many engaging talks.

This is a premier chance to advertise your company to decision makers and engineers working on Open Source based multimedia devices and applications.

It is also a great opportunity to network and recruit, and to support the GStreamer project.

Sponsorship funds are used to bring together developers and community members through the organisation of conferences, hackfests, and social events in addition to providing travel sponsorship for contributors. Funds also go towards providing infrastructure supporting day-to-day development activity such as build bots.
